Description of the research activities to be carried out as part of the post-doc assignment	The project aims at investigating the adjustment and cerebral plasticity processes which activate when using assistive robot technologies, in particular the use of exoskeletons for motor rehabilitation in individuals with spinal injuries. The general purpose is to identify objective indicators of physiological and behavioral adaptation to the use of exoskeleton and to analyze the factors that promote the functional integration between the individual and the device. The activities may include collecting and processing data from electrophysiological, motor or behavioral measurements aiming at investigating the neuroplasticity and learning mechanisms underlying the brain adaptive and consolidation processes in the different functional states. The researcher shall have proven skills in electrophysiology and psychophysiology with particular reference to electrophysiological (EEG, EMG) and objective analysis in healthy individuals and spinal cord injured patients. Experience is required in collecting and analyzing electrophysiological data in sleeping and waking conditions, in managing experimental protocols and in assessing plasticity and cortical dynamics in relation to learning and motor rehabilitation. Candidates shall also document a high-level scientific research activity in the field of psychophysiology and cognitive neurosciences, proven by a solid publishing experience in international contexts.

7. The overall duration of the relationships established with the holders of the positions referred to in Articles 22, 22-bis, 22-ter and 24, Italian Law 240/2010, also with different state, non-state or telematic universities, with Higher Education Institutions in Art, Music and Dancing, with the institutions whose postgraduate scientific diploma has been recognized as equivalent to the title of research doctorate pursuant to Article 74, paragraph 4, Presidential Decree n. 382, 11 July 1980 and with public research bodies cannot, in any case, exceed eleven years, even if not continuing. For the purposes of the above-mentioned relationships maternity or paternity or sick leave as provided in the laws in force shall not be taken into account.

Art. 3

Submitting and sending the application online

1. The application to take part in the procedure, as well as the qualifications, documents and publications deemed useful for the procedure, are to be submitted telematically, under penalty of exclusion, via the online tool available at <https://pica.cineca.it/univaq>.
No other ways of presenting applications or documents for the procedure are allowed for participation in this procedure.

The application procedure must be completed, under penalty of exclusion, no later than h 23.59 of the twentieth day following the day of the publication.

The computer application necessarily requires that the candidate has an e-mail account in order to register or he/she may also log in using the SPID or CIE credentials. Candidates must enter all data required to fill in application and attach all documents in .pdf format. The application form must be filled in all its parts according to the instructions given by the telematic procedure. Within the deadline for application the system allows to save a draft of the application. The date of telematic submission of the application shall be certified by a receipt sent automatically by the system via e-mail. Applications received after the deadline set in this selection announcement shall not be considered. An identification number shall be assigned to each application which, along with the selection procedure code indicated in the computer application, shall be quoted in any further notice.

2. The application submission shall be perfected and concluded in the following ways:
 - By digital signature using smart card, USB token or remote signature which allow the owner to sign general documents by means of a signature software or a Remote Signature web portal made available by the Auditor. Those who have a Digital Signature smart card or USB token shall verify that they are compatible with the Digital Signature system integrated in the system server. If so, the owner may sign the application directly in the system server (e.g. ConFirma);
 - Those who do not have compatible digital signature devices and the Remote Digital Signature Owners who may access a web portal for signing general documents shall save in their own PC the .pdf file generated by the system and, without modifying it, digitally sign it in CAdES format. A .p7m file will be generated, which shall be uploaded again to the system. Any editing to the file before signing with the Digital Signature shall interfere with the automatic check of correspondence between the content of such a document and the original, and this will bring to the application exclusion;
 - If none of the above-mentioned options can be used candidates shall save in their own PC the .pdf file generated by the system and, without modifying it, print and sign it with full original signature in the last page of the printed document. A scanned .pdf copy of such a

2. For all matters not provided for in this call for applications, the current University Regulations for awarding post-doc assignments pursuant to Art. 22-bis, Law n. 240, 30.12.2010, the relevant legislation in force, insofar as compatible, shall apply. The same call constitutes lex specialis of the selection, therefore participation in the same implies implicit acceptance, without reservation, of all the provisions contained therein.

L'Aquila,

The Rector
Prof. Fabio Graziosi
