

2016-CV-Klaus Fraedrich

Klaus Fraedrich, Max Planck Institute of Meteorology in Hamburg, Germany. Positions held as Professor at the University of Bonn, Berlin and Hamburg, visiting Professor at Universities of New South Wales (Sydney, Australia), Washington (USA), Wisconsin (Madison, USA); Head of Long Range Forecasting Research, Bureau of Meteorology (Melbourne, Australia), and Postdoc at Colorado State University (USA).

Awards (selected) are Lewis Frey Richardson Medal (European Geophysical Union), International Cooperation Award (Jiangsu, China), Alfred Wegener Medal (DMG), Stefan Hepites Award (Romania), Academy of Sciences (Hamburg), Gay Lussac Prize (France), Max Planck-Humboldt Prize (Germany), Distinguished Overseas Scientist (Melbourne, Australia), Max Planck Fellow.

Functions (selected) are OSCE Commissioner (Italy, Astronomy, Astrophysics, Physics of Earth and Planets, Panel for Tenure and Promotion, since 2013); Co-chair Cluster of Excellence CliSAP (Climate System Analysis and Prediction, 2007-11); German Advisory Council on Global Change (WBGU, 1996-2000); Nonlinear Dynamics Section (European Geophysical Society/EGU, President 1994-96); Member on advisory/editorial boards of scientific institutions and international journals.